Highway Beer Resorts Plan Stirs Storm

Residents Appeal Direct to Premier On Liquor Scheme

More Drinking Places Now Than Gasoline Filling Stations, Esquimalt Petitioners Declare in Fight-in Four Mile Hill License; Shawnigan Lake Summer Residents and Heads of Big Schools There Also Up in Arms Over Liquor Control Board's Move to Invade District

A move to dot the Island highway with beer resorts, acted only a short distance apart and to place beer parlors popular beaches, vacation and civic resorts frequented by miles has resulted in residents districts affected making protest to Premier Tolmie after the beer extension plans, said to be sponsored and apid to have been approved by the Liquor Control Board.

Headed by R. T. Fenn, retired residents who have built homes around Esquimalt Harbor placed before the Premier at the Parliament Buildings their objections to the opening of elaborate beer resort on the Four Mile Hill. They backed their protest with petitions signed by ninety per cent of the residents of the Four Mile district.

SO MANY LIQUOR ACCIDENTS

The beer resorts bring crowds of people from the city and would kill a part of Upper Esquimalt, which is developed into a high class residential area," they state. "Our children have to pass this resort on their way to school.

"There are enough accidents on the Island highway through beer drinking and many youths coming from beer bars at night without opening any re-resorts, particularly in the middle of a long and dangerous curving hill as the Four Mile.

"Beer resorts in this residential area I deplore the value of all the property, just as they have around beer resorts in Esquimalt across the harbor."

TEN THOUSAND DEAD IN THREE CHINESE TOWNS

Great Toll Taken By River Floods; Many Families Are Homeless

Thousands Leave Yangtze Cities; Those Remaining Suffer Much

Canadian Press

Shanghai, Aug. 20.—A death toll estimated at 10,000 persons in the important Lu Ho River towns of Tzechow, Melkiang and Fushun was reported today by the Kuomintang, official Nationalist Government News Agency, as floods similes to those which have devastated Hupel and Hunan provinces, swept through Szechuan province, the most densely populated province in China.

Only the northern part of Szechuan province was reported to have escaped the inundations of the Yangtze River and its tributaries, while in the central and southern areas thousands were reported to have perished.

In Chungtu, the provincial capital, the streets were reported turned into rivers and several hundred were believed to have perished in Chunking. Many villages were reported obliterated overnight.

He had been ill for two weeks.

The Island road was named by the provincial government as the last link in British Columbia's section of the Trans-Canada Highway. Improvement of the road to standards demanded by Dominion Government engineers will be carried out in the near future, it was learned to-day.

According to the announcement made by Premier Bennett in Calgary, the cost of reducing grades, eliminating curves and widening, and thereafter the extra cost of the maintenance of the highway will be borne by the federal government: that is, the extra cost of making and maintaining the road to a federal standard, if it has been constructed to that standard.

This will be done to the Dominion. This will be done to bring all roads included in the Trans-Canada route to one standard.

The Island road was named by the provincial government as the last link in British Columbia's section of the Trans-Canada Highway. On the mainland the route goes from Vancouver through the Lower Fraser Valley to Hope, then following the Cariboo Road and Fraser Canyon to Lytton where it will switch to the Thompson River as far as Spence's Bridge and then on to Kamloops. From Kamloops to Salmon Arm and then to Revelstoke it will traverse the Big Bend country to Golden, connecting them with the highway to Banff and Calgary.

Island Highway To Benefit From National Scheme

Victoria-Nanaimo Road Is Named Final Link in Trans-Canada Highway Plan; Other Sections in B.C. Designated by Order-in-council; Will Be Brought to Federal Standard and Extra Cost Stood by Dominion Government

With the Island highway, from Victoria to Nanaimo, designated by order-in-council of the British Columbia Government as part of the Transcanada Highway, improvement of the road to standards demanded by Dominion Government engineers will be carried out in the near future, it was learned to-day.

DISOBEDIENCE CAMPAIGN IN INDIA FORESEEN

Cotton Market at Ahmedabad Closed To-day; Viceroy Cancels Tour Plans

New Tilt Arises From Gandhi's Publication of Delhi Pact Breach Charges

Canadian Press

Ahmedabad, India, Aug. 20.—The cotton market at Ahmedabad was closed to-day in the face of possibility of renewal of the Nationalists' civil disobedience campaign.

Bombay, India, Aug. 20.—All hope that Mahatma Gandhi might help the British with the framing of a new constitution for India appeared to have vanished to-day with a blunt statement by Gandhi at Ahmedabad that he was unrepentant for publishing his indictment against the government.

At the same time, Earl Willingdon, Viceroy, announced he intended his attitude at Calcutta to stand with Gandhi to the end.

At the Second Round-table Conference in London was impossible in view of his roadside charging breaches of the Delhi Pact.

MORE CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE

Thus India may once more to be on the edge of a calamitous civil disobedience campaign, for Gandhi already had declared he would not accept the conference's decisions as binding on the Nationalists and would renew his fight against the government if it should fail to grant his demands of self-government unfettered by British control.

Whatever chance existed for an understanding between the Mahatma and the Viceroy appears to have been wiped out by Gandhi's precipitate publication of the charge sheet, he was on the point of extending the olive branch when the accusations were issued.

GANDHI'S STATEMENT

Gandhi's statement read in part: "If there was any chance of the government conceding my just claim for an independent India, it is now gone. We must understand why that change is in any way diminished or affected by the publication of the charge sheet. In doing so, the reference thereto in the Vice-roy's letter to me made it imperative. There was an insistent demand for its publication from many quarters. I am sorry to say that the demand was reasonable and just."

"Moreover, without publishing the charge sheet I could not present the case of the Congress completely. I finally published the papers only after the Viceroy's permission. I therefore am wholly unrepentant."

Whatever chance existed for an understanding between the Mahatma and the Viceroy appears to have been wiped out by Gandhi's precipitate publication of the charge sheet, he was on the point of extending the olive branch when the accusations were issued.

The Premier declined to confirm or deny it, saying Lougheed might speak on such matters for himself. The fact the Premier did not deny it was taken as lending much weight to the story, which comes as no surprise to the capital.

Political Group Supports New Budget Scheme For Great Britain; Reported No Tariff For Revenue Is Included

Canadian Press

London, Aug. 20.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald to-day won the support of the national executive of the Labor Party of Great Britain for his government's economy and revenue proposals, intended to balance next year's budget.

The Premier and leading members of the cabinet went into session with the party executive this morning and after they had left the executive voted to leave its position to the government.

LENGTHY DEBATE

The Trades Union Council, however, was still in session late this afternoon, debating whether it would approve the cabinet's proposals.

The government's measures have not yet been revealed to the public, but some of the afternoon papers said no suggestion of 10 per cent revenue tariff had been put forward.

Montagu Norman At Quebec Next Saturday

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—Arrival at Quebec Saturday of Montagu Norman, former Minister of Mines and former Governor of the Bank of England, has no particular significance so far as Canada is concerned. While the internationally known financier may possibly see Premier Bennett in the way of a personal call during his stay in this country, no appointment for any meeting has been arranged to date.

The government of the Bank of England is understood to be acting on medical advice for a complete rest from his arduous activities. Mr. Norman sailed from Southampton last Sunday.

London, Aug. 20.—Government of Tanganyika, British mandated territory in East Africa, has granted prospecting rights over an area of 1,300 square miles near Dodoma, where an extensive discovery of nickel is reported. American and Canadian interests are sending representatives to examine the properties.

World production of nickel in 1930 was probably just under 60,000 short tons. Over 90 per cent of this came from Canada, and just under 90 per cent of the world production was by International Nickel Co. of Canada. The other producer in Canada is the Falconbridge Nickel Mines, also in the Sudbury district of Ontario.

About 9 per cent of the world's production last year came from New Caledonia, where Le Nickel is the sole producer. Approximately 2,000 tons of nickel are obtained in the refining of blister copper each year as a by-product of the electrolytic process.

Nickel consumption of the United States and Canada in 1931 came to about 40,000 tons.

SEVEN INVITATIONS

In a telegram to Premier Bennett August 12, Premier Forbes said:

CONFERENCE PROPOSED FOR TRADE PACT

Canada-New Zealand Communications on Subject Made Public at Ottawa

Bennett Says Discussion Will Be Held After New Zealand Election

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—"We note with pleasure your desire to enter into direct personal negotiations with the least possible delay, and shall take up question of time and place as soon as suits the convenience of the New Zealand Government after the general election," said Premier G. W. Forbes of New Zealand contained in the most recent correspondence between the two governments, briefly summarizes the present status of trade relation negotiations between Canada and New Zealand.

The correspondence, made public from the office of the Prime Minister here yesterday, consists of telegrams from the Premier of Canada to the Prime Minister of New Zealand of July 28, August 5 and August 14 last, and a cable from the Prime Minister of New Zealand dated August 12.

WINTER SHORTAGE

"It is our policy," Premier Bennett stated in part, "to enter into negotiations with the intent of fostering this natural and essential industry and we anticipate that normally Canadian producers will supply the home market, but it is probable that winter shortages will recur, and in any case so far as imports are necessary, it is our desire to give preference to supplies from receiving dominions."

As a result of developments during the last year, Premier Bennett further declared, Canadian butter was again on an export basis.

AUTOS MENTIONED

Later, Premier Bennett in his correspondence, stated: "In any case, we have always been prepared to receive any specific suggestions as to trade arrangements on which particular attention should be given to the Canadian interest desired. We have hitherto continued to support the full British preferential tariff in spite of the fact that your government not only cancelled the preference on motor cars in consequence of the withdrawal of British preference, but has since in addition, imposed a heavier part of the British preferential tariff according to other Canadian imports."

PRELIMINARY MOVE

In previous correspondence, which covered some months, the New Zealand government emphasized its view there should be a concession in Canadian tariff rates on New Zealand butter as a preliminary to general negotiations and as a condition of continuing the New Zealand preference on imports from Canada.

When asked if he would go into negotiations with New Zealand on equalizing the reductions of customs duties granted by New Zealand on Canadian goods with the reduction on New Zealand goods granted by Canada.

EARY CONFERENCE

The Canadian government indicated its desire to arrange a conference at an early date to make a complete survey of trade relations and negotiate a comprehensive agreement in which a special provision as to butter would be included on its own. The fact was stressed that New Zealand butter was at present receiving a preference of 6 cents over the general tariff and that Canada was still extending to New Zealand its preferential tariff rates on all commodities, though New Zealand had deprived many Canadian firms of any market potentialities. It was declared the concession of the low 1-cent rate on butter to Australia was based on the existence of a trade agreement between Canada and Australia, which did not exist between Canada and New Zealand.

In his telegram of July 26 to Premier Forbes, Premier Bennett said:

"I refer to the impression of your government that the Canadian Government have been dilatory in entering on negotiations for a comprehensive agreement. I am sure you will agree the fundamental difficulty, not only during the past months but for some time past, has been the absence of a direct agreement between New Zealand and Canada based on full consideration of market opportunities and producers' interests in both countries."

WIDER FIELD

"The Canadian Government is prepared to consider extending preference on other New Zealand products (than butter), and has in fact, made a careful survey of the field. In any case, we have always been prepared to receive any specific suggestions as to products on which a preference was specially desired."

"As to the basis of preferential relations, we take no exception to the policy set forth in your telegram of May 26 of increasing duties on Canadian exports to New Zealand on the basis of market conditions on New Zealand goods. We do not consider that any such meticulous balance of advantages or any endeavor to insure that one Dominion will not export to another more than it imports would be in the true spirit of imperial cooperation. We feel confident you will accept the suggestion by the representatives of both New Zealand and Canada at the Imperial Conference of 1930 that, subject to the primary duty of considering the interests of our own producers, we should each seek to direct as much of our import trade as possible into Empire channels."

DIVERSION OF TRADE

You will recall informing the Imperial Conference of steps your government had taken to divert part of its import trade from the United States to the British Empire. I am sure you will, therefore, regret to learn the direct result of your government's recent action has been to divert a large share from Canada to the United States, much of which may be permanently lost."

SEVEN INVITATIONS

In a telegram to Premier Bennett August 12, Premier Forbes said:

"During the course of telegraphic correspondence since April 12, 1930, the New Zealand government have indicated on no less than seven distinct occasions their desire to enter into direct conversations. The Canadian government for their part not only declined to postpone their drastic action against New Zealand butter until such time as negotiations could be planned in point of fact, before conversations were possible, actually doubled prohibitive rates originally proposed, and during a period of sixteen months they have taken no definite steps to accede to our repeated request for a conference to discuss in detail the questions involved."

TRADE BALANCE MENTIONED

"I am unable to agree the fundamental difficulty has been the absence of a direct agreement between New Zealand and Canada." Now, with regard to the fundamental balance of trade between the two Dominions was heavily against New Zealand, the New Zealand Government raised no objection to the arrangement existing prior to Canada's termination of the extension to New Zealand butter of the general preference in time of war.

NEW MAGAZINE DUTIES IN FORCE IN SEPTEMBER

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—Regulations governing the revised duties against foreign newspapers, magazines and periodicals entering Canada were issued yesterday afternoon by the Department of National Revenue. The new rates will become effective September 1, except the 15-cent duty against week-and-newspapers, which will not come into force until regularly proclaimed by the Government.

It is set forth in the regulations that the higher duties will not become effective until the 15-cent duty against Canadian who had subscribed to foreign magazines or periodicals before June 2, 1931. This delayed action will mean seven months' grace to bona fide subscribers of the latter date.

The effect of the duties and the regulations is to separate magazines from periodicals. Daily newspapers will continue to enter this country free of duty. Magazines with an advertising content ranging between 2½ and 30 per cent of the total space will pay a duty of two cents a copy. When the advertising content exceeds 30 per cent, the tariff will be five cents a copy.

Magazines in which the advertising content does not exceed 20 per cent of the total space, or those published in the interests of religion, education, science or agricultural or fraternal organizations, will bear no duty.

CLASSES SET UP

"Periodical publications," the regulations stipulate, "will not be classified as magazines when they consist almost wholly of fiction and do not contain any amount of critical and descriptive articles, news items of articles relative thereto, or to current topics equal to at least 25 per cent of the whole apart from advertising matter."

WHEN PERIODICALS FAIL

"When periodicals fail to conform with the definition they will face a tariff of fifteen cents a pound or a minimum of fifteen cents a copy. This is considered almost a prohibitive duty."

SUGGESTION IN LONDON

"In a cablegram to Premier Forbes last Friday, Premier Bennett said: "Your statement in London no suggestion was communicated to me as to what action via Canada is noted by the Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce definitely conveyed suggestion to your delegation. As regards the proposal made by New Zealand in 1928 for negotiation of a trade agreement, it may be added for completion of the record, the cable advised by the Minister of Customs for discussing trade arrangements was proposed by New Zealand on February 17, 1928, and accepted on February 28, 1928, by the Canadian government, which suggested a conference immediately after protracted negotiations. No reply to the latter telegram was made by the New Zealand government."

Mr. Bennett concluded with the statement the Canadian government noted the desire of the New Zealand government for direct personal negotiations and would discuss the date and place at the convenience of the New Zealand government after its general election.

Announcement to this effect was made by Premier Anderson yesterday in discussing this week's conference between the provincial cabinet, Hon. Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture, and the provincial relief board.

Included among the matters before the conference was the naming of an advisory committee to the board and an outline of policy.

Such a policy will have to be approved by the federal government," the Premier said.

ROAD WORK

Relief money running into more than a million dollars may be available to Saskatchewan for use on relief road work in the province should Highway 1 be chosen, the Saskatchewan link of the Trans-Canada highway system.

When contrasted with the results regarded as being favorable when contracted with corresponding results in other branches of finance and commerce, the total sales by provinces based on returns from fifteen companies having in force 80 per cent of the business done in the Dominion, were as follows:

Alberta, $1,807,000; British Columbia, $2,439,000; Manitoba, $2,751,000; Newfoundland, $1,049,000; New Brunswick, $1,362,000; Ontario, $17,739,000; Prince Edward Island, $191,000; Quebec, $10,517,000; Saskatchewan, $1,910,000, and Newfoundland, $374,000.

DEBT REVISION

IN SPITE OF A GOOD DEAL THAT WAS said to the contrary when Mr. Hoover announced his moratorium plan, it is highly problematical that the old debt-paying and reparations agreements which have been suspended for a year will remain as they stand at present. Through the Wiggin committee appointed by the Bank of International Settlements at the request of the seven-power conference held recently in London, a recommendation is made that the whole situation be readjusted. Early reaction in the various capitals seems to be favorable; but Britain points out that the initiative for such a move will have to come from the United States because that country is the major creditor. No matter what she calls the collections she makes, the money first of all is paid by Germany and is passed on to Washington by Germany's creditors.

It is one thing, of course, to make such an important recommendation as the committee has made and quite another thing to translate it into action. Many prominent public men and influential newspapers in the United States would like to see this whole question disposed of by an all-round cancellation of debts and reparations. But there also is a section of the United States public which insists that Uncle Sam's bill shall be paid in accordance with the agreements entered into. This element may be in the minority; but a noisy minority can wield a lot of power, especially when a presidential election is in the offing. Yet the logic of economic facts can not be ignored indefinitely. One of these facts is that paying the bill presented to Europe by the United States is not only not bringing prosperity to that country, but is actually impairing it.

The New York Times, always favorable to any policy that will make for the peace of the world, and especially its economic rehabilitation, seems hopeful that one phase in the United States State Department's analysis is the shadow of a coming event—the revision recommended by the Wiggin committee. It notes, in referring to Article 3 of the analysis, that "the amounts thus suspended shall, unless otherwise agreed, be repaid on July 1, 1933." It then proceeds:

The phrase, so seemingly innocent that the State Department overlooked it, is the frankest kind of acknowledgement that the whole matter is to be left for future negotiation and adjustment. That the resumption of reparation payments next July, and also the continued discharge of the interest on the war debts, are in like manner uncertain must be well understood. Certainly, no informed person, whether among financiers or public men, expects that we shall go back without a jar to the full execution of the Young Plan, or to placing the war debts back upon their basis before President Hoover offered relief for one year. The words, "unless otherwise agreed," are, in fact, a distinct notification that some radical change in the entire situation must be sought. They are also an obvious invitation to the governments concerned, without loss of time, to bestir themselves in striving for an entirely new settlement of the whole question upon new principles.

As already suggested, Mr. Hoover will have to do some convincing among the last-ditchers, but if he can show them that the United States has benefited as a result of the year's holiday, he should be able to swing public opinion to the support of all-round revision.

POOR STATESMANSHIP

PUBLICATION OF THE CORRESPONDENCE between the Bennett government of Canada and the Forbes government of New Zealand indicates quite clearly that the authorities at Ottawa bungled a business that has resulted in the reduction of a thirty-six-million-dollar trade exchange to less than half that amount—all in the short space of twelve months.

Mr. Bennett is far from convincing when he seeks to convey the impression that if Premier Forbes had returned to New Zealand from the Imperial Conference by way of Canada, the present tariff situation would not have arisen, that a proper treaty would have been negotiated after consultation at Ottawa. He will not be taken seriously when he tries to shift the blame in this way. Whether it was wise in increasing the duty on butter from one cent to four cents a pound or not, the King government, through the Dunning budget, gave six months' notice of this vital proposed change in the agreement; and if it had been endorsed by the electorate at the general elections last year, it would have taken steps that would have prevented the tariff war which already has been costly to both countries, and especially to Canada.

The new government, however, was not satisfied with a duty of four cents, although the official organization of the Canadian dairymen had recommended this amount as an adequate one. Mr. Bennett's reasoning seemed to suggest that if it was right for a Liberal government to make the duty four cents, it surely would be in conformity with Conservative tariff policy to double it. He put it up to eight cents and practically ended the usefulness of the agreement as far as New Zealand was concerned. That Dominion at once retaliated by removing the preference which Canadian automobiles and automobile accessories had enjoyed in the New Zealand market. That one blow cost the Canadian automobile industry between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000. This was a very satisfactory development for United States producers of these commodities. They got the business we lost.

This action on the part of New Zealand was bad enough; but she struck the final blow at a one-time profitable business when she removed the British Preference from practically all the goods Canada had been exporting to her for many years. She now complains, and with every justification as far as the general principle of inter-empire trade is concerned, that her butter does not even enjoy the advantage which Australian butter enjoys under the new treaty with that Dominion. Could a situation be more absurd than one which permits Australian butter to enter Canada by paying a five-cent duty and requires the same product from a neighboring Dominion to pay a duty of eight cents?

Mr. Bennett suggests to the New Zealand government that the absence of a proper treaty—the old agreement was the Australian treaty extended by order-in-council to apply to New Zealand—between the two Dominions has been a "fundamental difficulty, not only during the past months, but for some years past." The argument is unsound in itself; in the first place because Mr. Bennett virtually told New Zealand that his policy would include a plan that would keep that Dominion's butter out of Canada; in the second place because he made no practical move between the time he was elected to office on July 28 last year and his departure for the Imperial Conference, after the emergent session of Parliament has fallen, to prevent the developments which have since taken place. If he had possessed statesman-like vision, when he found that an agreement could not be reached with the New Zealand representatives after discussions with them in London, he would have adopted that part of the Dunning budget which provided for a duty of four cents on New Zealand butter, thus leaving the way open for further negotiation. If he had followed that course, it is altogether likely the southern Dominion would not have adopted retaliatory measures.

It is difficult to foretell, of course, what will happen at the forthcoming general elections in New Zealand. Mr. Forbes may not be the next Prime Minister. It can be assumed, however, that there will be a disposition on the part of that Dominion to negotiate a new treaty; and since Canada started the tariff war, the least she can do is to send her own envoy to New Zealand just as soon as arrangements can be made. We need all the business we can get; but once again it must be said that if we expect to sell, we must be prepared to buy. Incidentally, what does Mr. Stevens think about a tariff policy that has lost business for the province which he represents at Ottawa, business which involves many British Columbia industries?

SCORING TARIFF SYSTEMS

WHAT SIR GEORGE PAISH AND other noted economists have been telling us for months about the injury high tariffs are doing to international commerce is emphasized in the Wiggin report, which recommends tariff revision as the first step toward the return of world prosperity. This report from the experts of the ten leading banking nations of the world warns us that the tariff system now in operation is obstructing commerce and making it impossible for debtor nations to sell their goods and pay their debts. "So long as these obstacles remain," says the report, "such movements of capital must necessarily throw the world's financial balance out of equilibrium. Financial remedies alone will be powerless to restore the world's economic prosperity unless there is a change in this policy of obstruction."

Mr. Wiggin, chairman of the international committee, incidentally, is head of the board of the Chase National Bank, one of the greatest financial institutions of the United States, and the plain warning which he and his colleagues have issued ought to carry considerable weight in his own country—the home of high tariffs—as well as abroad. Already, of course, the low tariff forces of the neighboring republic are noting the increasing number of converts to their way of thinking. Several leaders of the Republican party, the historic party of high tariffs, have expressed themselves in favor of a broad-based revision of the country's tariff structure.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

NEEDS HELPFUL CRITICISM
The Stratford Beacon-Herald

The C.N.R. needs all the helpful criticism it can get; it will not resent such. It is in need of assistance and good-will from the people of the country. It is not the function of any public man to slander a property in which the people of the Dominion are so vitally interested. It hardly too much to say that the making or marinating of the C.N.R. is enough to determine the stability or rocking of the financial structure of the entire Dominion. We make the statement fully realizing its importance and the sweeping character of the utterance.

HIGH POWER RATES

The Quebec Soleil

The use of electricity has so many advantages that increased consumption will always follow reduced rates. The Canadian population want nothing better than to use electricity for their lighting and a number of other purposes. What prevents this at the present time is the high cost of power. Electricity remains a luxury. When electricity has to compete with other methods of lighting and the use of coal, kerosene and gasoline, no one will refuse to profit by the advantages offered by this practical method.

CANADIAN SELF-GOVERNMENT
The Halifax Chronicle

During the discussion at Ottawa last week, the Hon. Mr. Lapointe, former Minister of Justice in the Liberal government at Ottawa, stated that he wished to pay homage to the public men of Britain and the other parts of the Empire for having dealt with the matter in a very broad way and for having realized that the surest method of maintaining our Empire association is that it should be based on the solid rock of liberty, of autonomy and equality of status. "I have no doubt," said Mr. Lapointe, "that the bonds which unite us, instead of being weakened, are rather strengthened by this new condition, based on the free will of all the citizens of the Empire."

The Premier, Mr. Bennett, did not attempt to take any glory to himself for the passing of the Statute of Westminster. He could not do so because he was frank enough to admit during the debate that its passing was brought about by the Imperial Conference, 1926, at which Mr. King was the representative of Canada, and the work of the conference on the operation of Dominion legislation and merchant shipping legislation, 1929, at which the Canadian delegation was headed by the Hon. Mr. Lapointe, and its most difficult subject, merchant shipping, was presided over by Mr. C. J. Burchell, K.C., of Halifax. The Imperial Conference, 1930, at which Mr. Bennett was present, merely put its seal of approval on the report of the 1929 conference.

Mr. Churchill performs a public service—I do some questionable mathematics—and another victim appears out our way.

H. L. W.

MR. WINSTON CHURCHILL has just refreshed the public mind in England by calling Mr. Bernard Shaw and Lady Nancy Astor, recent visitors to Russia, "two-faced clowns" and a lot of other things. I think this is fine. I mean, I rejoice that somewhere among the British races some people still call other people bad names. It is a survival of the strength and vigor of older times when the gentle Keats called someone or other a "broken and putreying toad" and Swinburne wrote to Emerson to call him a "minion." Between the time he was elected to office on July 28 last year and his departure for the Imperial Conference, after the emergent session of Parliament has fallen, to prevent the developments which have since taken place. If he had possessed statesman-like vision, when he found that an agreement could not be reached with the New Zealand representatives after discussions with them in London, he would have adopted that part of the Dunning budget which provided for a duty of four cents on New Zealand butter, thus leaving the way open for further negotiation. It is difficult to foretell, of course, what will happen at the forthcoming general elections in New Zealand. Mr. Forbes may not be the next Prime Minister.

It can be assumed, however, that there will be a disposition on the part of that Dominion to negotiate a new treaty; and since Canada started the tariff war, the least she can do is to send her own envoy to New Zealand just as soon as arrangements can be made. We need all the business we can get;

but once again it must be said that if we expect to sell, we must be prepared to buy. Incidentally, what does Mr. Stevens think about a tariff policy that has lost business for the province which he represents at Ottawa, business which involves many British Columbia industries?

I.O.D.E. AWARDS SCHOLARSHIPS FOR PROVINCE

$1,200 Bursaries Granted to Nelson Girl and Penticton Boy Yesterday

Both Children of Late Veterans; Order Has Given $21,600 in B.C.

Patricia Campbell of Nelson and Robert Walker of Penticton were chosen yesterday afternoon to be the recipients of the two $1,200 bursaries awarded under the I.O.D.E. war memorial foundation for British Columbians this year. The choice was made by the committee of selection for the province.

DAUGHTER OF FIRST CONTINGENT MAN

Miss Campbell is the sixteen-year-old daughter of the late Lieut. I. C. Campbell, who went overseas with the first contingent. She has been particularly successful in her studies, having a splendid record throughout her high school course, last year gaining 77.7 per cent in junior matriculation examinations and this year 67.1 per cent in senior matriculation. She is a member of the local art society and has taken up her arts course at the University of British Columbia. She is sixteen years old.

FATHER KILLED AT GALLIPOLI

Robert Walker is the son of the late Robert D. Walker, who served as chief petty officer in H.M.S. Hood and was killed at Gallipoli in 1915. Robert Walker has shown himself to be a consistently able student in the high school, gaining 76.3 per cent in recent junior matriculation examinations. He plans to take up applied science at the University of British Columbia. He is seventeen years of age.

PROVINCIAL COMMITTEE

The personnel of the committee for the province comprises: Mrs. Curtis Sampson, provincial president; Mrs. Andrew Wright, provincial councillor; Right Rev. C. D. Schoolfield, Bishop of Victoria; Mr. Hon. Justice Lawton; Dr. S. J. Willis, superintendent of education; B. C. Nicholas, of the board of governors of the University of British Columbia; F. J. Brand, B.Sc. (Oxon), of the department of mathematics of the University of British Columbia; and Miss W. C. Cooke, provincial educational secretary, concierge.

EIGHTH B.C. AWARDS

Yesterday's awards bring the total in British Columbia to eighteen, which means $21,600 given in bursaries and scholarships overseas have been awarded, six $1,400 scholarships and two $1,000 scholarships.

This year there will be five students granted I.O.D.E. bursaries attending the University of British Columbia and one attending Victoria College. In Canada this year, seventeen bursaries will be granted, bringing the total to 127, and the amount disbursed to $152,400. Between fifty and sixty post-graduate scholarships (overseas) have also been given, these scholarships being $1,600, tenable at a British university.

The total amount raised by the order for its war memorial foundation was $765,459.71.

HOLDER'S DO WELL

All of the scholars assisted have been sons or daughters of war veterans, and all have acquitted themselves splendidly in their studies and in their chosen careers, many of them having now been in positions of responsibility in Canadian church, educational institution, the world of science and the world of business.

VARSITY WOMEN MEET IN EAST

Miss Nan Eaton to Represent Victoria at Ottawa Convention

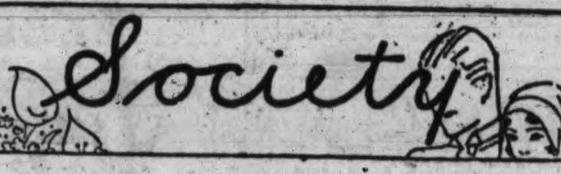

Miss Nan Eaton, president of the Victoria branch of the University Women's Club, will represent that body at the triennial meeting of the Federation of University Women's Clubs to be held in Ottawa on August 25, 26 and 27. About two delegates will attend the sessions, over which Miss Leila Scott, of Toronto, will preside.

Guest speaker at the annual dinner to be held on opening night will be Mrs. W. D. Herdige and Dr. Katherine McHale, president of the American University Women's Club. Possibility of making the Vocational Bureau in Toronto a permanent institution of the federation will be discussed, and the delegates will consider the advisability of securing a lecturer available to speak to the clubs.

Another important matter to be brought up is the proposed establishment of a junior traveling scholarship of $600 a year, to encourage students in graduate study and research. This scholarship would be in addition to the sessions ones, which is adapted to women graduates who have already spent several years in post-graduate work.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Douglas Baptist Church on Saturday evening when Rev. F. W. McMinion united in marriage Myrtle, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hoy, Selkirk Avenue, and Mr. Arthur Hoy, Melville Road. The church was filled with friends and relatives. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a sleeveless frock of powder blue georgette, with mohair picture hat to match, and carried a shower bouquet of roses, carnations and fern. Miss Jean Plowright, the maid-of-honor, wore a frock of flowered crepe with black lace trim, and carried a bouquet of asters in pink shades. Mr. Bert Baxter was best man. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Hetherington sang "I Love You Truly." A reception was held at the home of Mr. E. Plewight, Edward Street, the bridal couple standing beneath the canopy of flowers.

After a honeymoon on the Mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Hoy will make their home on Vincent Street. For travel, the bride chose a smart dress of pink ralph silk with a black sports belt and black overcoat with a grey fur collar.

"JAZZ KING" IS QUIETLY WED

Paul Whiteman Marries Margaret Livingston, Screen Actress

Denver, Aug. 30.—The king of jazz music, Paul Whiteman, and Miss Margaret Livingston, screen actress, were married late Tuesday at the country home of Whiteman's father, near Denver. The ceremony was restricted to members of the two families and close friends.

The nuptial vows were taken at the home of Paul's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilberforce J. Whiteman in Denver. Whiteman Sr. has been a director of music in the Denver public schools for the last three years, and the jazz king's mother is an operatic singer.

News of the impending marriage was no surprise to Hollywood friends, as the round band leader had been paying marked attention to Miss Livingston since his divorce from Vanda Hoff and the two were together much of the time during which Whiteman was in Hollywood.

Livingston, formerly a popular screen actress, has not appeared in recent pictures. Friends here, however, said she plans to return to the films this fall, and that a Hollywood studio now is preparing her a starring vehicle.

After the wedding, Whiteman and his bride returned to Chicago, where he is filling an engagement at the Edgewater Beach Hotel. They plan to return to Hollywood about the first of September to spend a two weeks' honeymoon. From there they will return east, where Paul will complete his plans for a world concert tour next year in the interest of the 1933 Chicago World's Fair.

Whiteman, in his youth, was a Denver taxicab driver. His name originally was:

John Edward Borden.

He changed it to Whiteman when he became famous.

Dempsey Will Don Gloves Because He Needs Ready Cash

Barnstorming Tour Should Replenish His Pocketbook Substantially

Philadelphia Fans Will Probably Miss Several Athletics Stars Next Year

Mack Wonders Where Team Is Heading For With $290,000 Payroll

IT IS NOT surprising to learn that Jack Dempsey is going to don the gloves again. He needs the money. It costs Jack a lot of cash to get by. Nothing is coming in. Plenty is going out. Dempsey could get a lot of work as a referee, but as long as he is going to be in the ring, why not with the gloves on? The take will be a lot bigger.

Dempsey, as a free spender, has had few equals in the pugilistic world. He cracks $100 bills with the indifference of a bank cashier. The old timers tell about John L. Sullivan throwing money around like water, but then a $100 bill in John L.'s time was the guarantee of a great time. That kind of money would only start an evening's entertainment these days. That is in the set that Jack travels around in.

From the days in 1917, when he moved around the Pacific Coast sometimes with two dimes and a nickel in his pocket and often with neither dimes nor a nickel, Dempsey has been a good spender. If he hadn't have it, he would always borrow it. And he has traveled on always paying the debts, big or small.

According to the best of authorities the report that Dempsey is burdened down with money is only idle talk. He has some invested in real estate and in the big project is a success. Therefore the return to active ring work. He plans to barnstorm Canada and the United States, meeting all-comers in four-round bouts. The tour will begin late this month. Whether or not it will culminate in a comeback attempt for the world heavyweight title is a matter that will keep the ballyhooing going.

If it works out in reality as well as it does on paper, the trip should replenish the Dempsey pocketbook substantially. He made around $50,000 as a referee and only tapped the resources of his bank account. The Elks will be a fine utility man to look after the pitching duties the Elks will be well fortified for moundsmen.

Forbes held the hard-hitting Sons to four scattered bingles while he struck out eight. However, he walked six and had five wild pitches. Sons' three runs came as the result of walks and wild pitches.

Holden opposed Forbes and was in good form, checking the newly-crowned city champions to four hits while he whiffed seven. He walked four.

BOWDEN INJURED

The Elks lost the services of Tommy Bowden, their regular catcher, in the third inning when he was struck on the head by a pitched ball. He was replaced by Morgan while Murty Dunn went in to play third base. Morgan handled himself well behind the plate and threw out the only two runners who tried to plier second base hit.

The Elks opened the game in the third inning when they showed two runs. Smith was at bat and Hiltz hit a single to right field. Smith was safe on Hiltz's bad throw to first base, but was forced at second by Cummings.

Craig to Emeri. Morgan struck out.

Forbes and Webster both worked.

Holman for walks to load the sacks. Mc-

Kenzie singled over shortstop to score

Cummings and Forbes. Dunn fired out seven. Holman.

In the fourth the Sons drove in their initial effort. Colin Campbell started the scoring by grounding out to Webster.

Haines struck out. Steel drove a hot one at McKenzie and the shortstop let the ball go through his legs, the batter winding up on second.

Steel reached third on a wild pitch and scored on another bad throw from the box, although Morgan had a chance to make the put out. The Elks scored their third run in the fifth. Forbes singled and was sacrificed to second.

McKenzie struck out.

Webster scored when Emeri bobbled Dunn's grounder.

For some years it had been understood that the New York Yankees had the highest payroll in baseball, with the New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and Chicago Cubs following, and the A's ranking about fifth. However, it seems quite in order that the Athletics are the highest paid ball club in the game. It is almost a certainty that Philadelphia can get Sunday the owners of the Athletics will not be able to bear the burden a great deal longer.

In spite of a winning club, business has not been any too good at Shibe Park this season.

Jack Kearns announces that he is bringing back Benny Leonard to take a crack at three or four titles. Well, now that Mickey Walker has vacated the middleweight title, the Doc has to find some way of getting that one back.

The fellow Carnes must have a terrific punch. He is the only heavyweight who can score knockouts without using it.

Cochet has denied he will turn pro. Well, the amateur tennis division needed a little ballyhoo, anyway.

Two sets of baseballs will be used in the world series this year. The only thing needed to perfect the picture is the introduction of the new balloon golf globules.

Lacrosse Champions Gain Ontario Final

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 20.—Brampton Excelsiors, holders of the Manh Cup, Canada's championship lacrosse emblem, have qualified to meet Toronto Native Sons for the Ontario amateur lacrosse association title.

Playing at Weston yesterday evening, the Excelsiors vanquished Toronto St. Simons, 5 to 4, after ten minutes overtime play. The teams were deadlocked on the round previous to yesterday evening, four goals all.

Reinforcements Will Give City Champions Powerful Club for Opening Round of Provincial Baseball Series Against Vancouver Terminal League Champions; Rush Call Is Sent Out for Bacon to Replace Bowden, Who Is in Hospital After Injury Yesterday Evening; Jack Noble Will Pitch Opening Game Saturday at Royal Athletic Park

Selection of four members of the Sons of Canada team to reinforce their club for the British Columbia championship baseball play-offs was announced to-day by Walter Lorimer, manager of the local champions. The four players include: Leo Holden, pitcher; Jack Bacon, catcher; Bill Holman, outfielder, and Johnny Craig, infielder. Following yesterday evening's game between the Elks and Sons, officials of the former club got their heads together and selected these players.

These additional players will give the Elks a powerful club to put up against Begbie, Carter and White, Vancouver Terminal League champions, in the first round of the provincial series, here Saturday afternoon. The game will be played at the Royal Athletic Park, commencing at 2:30 o'clock, with Abe Kohn, Vancouver umpire in charge. Kohn has a great reputation and is a very colorful arbitrator. The second game will be played in Vancouver on Tuesday evening under the floodlights at Athletic Park. If a third game is necessary it will be played the following evening at the same park.

Holden, a doubtful starter a rush call was sent to Bacon, who is holidaying in Vancouver, place behind the plate. Bacon is a first-class receiver and one of the best ball players in the city. He is clever, has had a vast amount of experience and is a fast man on the bases. And he is a dangerous man with the willow.

Craig will be a fine utility man to look after. He can fill in at shortstop or second base and plays either position well.

Holden should be a big aid to the local champions. He is a splendid pitcher, as was demonstrated by his four-round performance against the Elks yesterday evening. He will also be valuable as a pinch hitter.

Holden, Noble and Webster to look after the pitching duties the Elks will be well fortified for moundsmen.

Sons and Eagles.

Forbes held the hard-hitting Sons to four scattered bingles while he struck out eight. However, he walked six and had five wild pitches. Sons' three runs came as the result of walks and wild pitches.

Holden opposed Forbes and was in good form, checking the newly-crowned city champions to four hits while he whiffed seven. He walked four.

Canadian Rugby Schedule For Coming Season Released

Capitals In Opening Game September 30 On Mainland Field

I Meet New Westminster Under Flood Lights at Vancouver at End of Next Month; Four Games to Complete Victoria's Series; Other Three to Be Played Here; Season to Close November 7; Local Prospects Bright

Under the glare of flood lights in Vancouver, the Capital's entry in the Big Four Canadian Rugby League will make first appearance this year with New Westminster on September 30, it was revealed in the tentative schedule announced yesterday. The fixture will be the first of four to be played by the Capital and will be the only one not staged on the Victoria field.

On October 10 the Caps will stalk up against the V.A.C. at the Royal Athlet Park, meeting the Mermaids, present champions, on the same ground two weeks later and rounding off the schedule with Victoria on November 7. The winners of the series will advance to the western Canada final against the winners of the prairie league.

In view of the fact that Victoria will be playing only four games, while the other members of the loop will clash in seven, the locals will virtually have to clinch every encounter by standing out to be worked out on a percentage basis. The Capitals will get 25 per cent for every victory, with the other rating 14 2-7 per cent for each win.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Last year Mermaids battled their way through a torrid play-off to win the British Columbia championship, while the preceding season V.A.C. wrested the crown from Varsity. This year Coach Ernie Cook is looking to the Capitals to make a stronger bid for the honors. Never before has there been such a wealth of material from which to choose in men. Brian Hunning, husky line plunger, who mugged up many an opponent's maneuver in former matches; Campbell Forbes, one of the best kicks ever developed in British Columbia; Jack Horne, captain of the squad last year, and several other huskies who dent the lines of Vancouver's pride, will be our main strength. In addition to these there are several good brown field runners working regularly with the squad. Several of them have come from the city's best English rugby backfields and promise to show plenty of speed and trickiness under the Canadian code.

TENTATIVE SCHEDULE

The tentative schedule, with the first-mentioned squad being the home team, follows:

- September 23—V.A.C. vs. Mermaids
- October 10—Victoria vs. Varsity
- October 17—New Westminster vs. Victoria (night, at Vancouver).
- October 24—Victoria vs. Varsity
- October 31—New Westminster vs. V.A.C.
- November 7—Victoria vs. Varsity

DAY'S MATCHES

The three matches which were to end the round-up of the regular season were brought together Saturday, with the young star from Sharon, Mass., Phyllis Mudford of the British Isles; Betty Nuthall, England, the deejing champion; and Josephine Chisholm of Santa Jose, Calif., by Mrs. Helen Moody, founder of the British Isles, in the quarter finals. Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittington carried the British colors a round of the surviving countries, while Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakley, Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, and the splendid crew who formed the main body of the California delegation behind Mrs. Moody.

VICTORIA TEAM WINS LACROSSE

Williams, Cadell, McKenzie and Smith Score as City Beats Sidney 8 to 4

Running up a commanding lead in the first period and adding to their total in the other quarters, Victoria defeated Sidney in the lacrosse match at Sidney yesterday evening 8 to 3.

Jack Caddell opened the local attack driving in two goals in quick succession. Williams added another before the period was over.

In the second Williams ran through the Sidney boys to snag three more tallies and McKenzie added one to bring the locals' total to seven.

A good crowd turned out to the fixture and was given a pretty exhibition of stick-handling. Sarginson refereed.

Wykoff and Tolan Reach Vancouver For Race Saturday

Vancouver, Aug. 20.—Gathering of the fleetest speedsters of the continent for the race of the century here next Saturday began yesterday with the arrival of Frank Wykoff, California comet, and Eddie Tolan, Michigan sprinter.

Uncle David says charity just come from the heart an' I guess that's where all of his mes from. I notice that me of it ever comes from his pocket."

The meeting of the four sprinters is attracting much attention inasmuch as three of them are either record holders or have records up for recognition.

BARBARA LEE WINS HANDICAP AT BRIGHOUSE

Three-year-old Filly Wears Down Bowcroft to Take Feature Stakes

Daily Double Returns $51.15 For $2; Good Prices Are Order of Day

Vancouver, Aug. 20.—Barbara Lee, three-year-old brown filly, owned by the Miller Brothers' stable, wore the tiring Bowcroft down in the final drive to win the yesterday afternoon in the fifth race at Brighouse Park, to cap the $1,000 Gyro Handicap purse. Leg Puller, the favorite, was third.

War Salam came across in the second race and Ninote beat out a large field in the fourth to bring over the double. Both of the two winners on the one ticket received $51.15 for a total of $52.80.

VANCOUVER HAS "MEANEST THIEF"

Man at Large Broke "Jungle" Code: "Steal Not From Those Who Have Not"

Vancouver, Aug. 20.—Vancouver police are looking for a man who is believed to be the "meanest thief" and resident of the "Jungle," the Georgia Viaduct, from whom he stole, are seeking, with anger in their hearts, a miscreant who violated the code of the "Jungle" whose first commandment is: "Steal not from those who have not."

According to Tuesday evening or early Wednesday, while "Jungle" denizens were sleeping, the meanest thief was busy investigating their meagre personal belongings. There was little enough to investigate, for the "Jungle" jobless possess little of value save one thing—their boots.

TOOK BOOTS

And it was boots—two pairs, belonging to Jim Morrison, a trampy resident, that the meanest thief stole.

Morrison connected with three hits to add a point to his average, while Davis got four in two games to send his average bounding four points upward.

Babe Ruth failed to hit, while Chuck Klein also went hitless in a double-header.

George Dry, ex-football star, added another victory to his growing list by making short work of Jim Nevers in the opening bout.

Youngster Stars In State Tourney

Spokane, Aug. 20.—In his first year of tournament golf, Elmer Smith, Spokane, entered the semi-finals of the Washington State golf tournament by defeating Mrs. S. W. Thurston, Olympia, 5 and 4, in a sensational tour. From the first drive she blasted away at women's par for the Manito course—80—finishing the first round in 43 and she had a 33 to the sixteenth, where the match ended.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Guy Riegel, Spokane, continued her sweep toward the finals by defeating Mrs. E. G. Griggs, Tacoma, 2 and 1.

Not Necessary

"We've made a dreadful mistake with this boat. I've forgotten to put a bottom on it."

"Never mind, it won't be seen—it's under water."

Canadian Press
New York, Aug. 20.—A thorough inquiry into the disappearance of Hisashi Fujimura, Japanese Importer, from the liner Belgenland, between Halifax and New York last Friday, was in progress to-day under orders of U.S. Attorney George E. Medale.
The importer had gone on the trip with his wife, a former show girl, and a former show girl acting as governess. Other passengers told police three men attacked the Japanese and dragged him on deck at night.
Federal investigators will question passengers on the Belgenland, including Major Jameson, who is government and Milford Harris Campbell, divorced wife of the film comedian, in an effort to discover if passengers saw or heard anything which might afford a new clue to the disappearance.
When the Belgenland arrived from Halifax and Fujimura's disappearance was first discovered, Mr. Reeser was quoted as saying his employer had expressed fear of another man on board and asked not to be left alone.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Montreal, Aug. 20.—A charge of murder faces Paul Litzotte, forty, who had been charged criminally responsible by a coroner's inquest with the death of his sister's husband, Alfred Shepherd, fifty-seven. Litzotte was arraigned yesterday on a murder charge and remanded till August 6. The coroner's jury heard eye-witnesses describe a quarrel in a hayfield at Coteau Rouge, near Montreal, during the course of which Shepherd received fatal wounds from a pitchfork.

Sometimes this loss of water is due to disease which puts a great deal more water through the kidneys in order to relieve the body of concentrated salts that are the product of disease. Sometimes the occupation of the person or the character of his sweat glands is such that he loses a great deal. Hysterics insist that Americans have a ten times thirst for water than we do.

The necessity for water in the body is far more pressing than the necessity for food. A healthy human being can live without food and with decreasing physical efficiency for some forty to sixty days. He can do without water for much shorter time. Without this fluid, and if he has no water to drink, he becomes uncomfortable after two or three days, feverish in from four to seven days, and he usually dies in from eight to twelve days. That is what happens to a man lost at sea or in a desert without either thirst or hope being present.

In this regard I cannot congratulate Prof. Carlson points out that the thirst appetite has not yet been properly named. This appetite, he insists, is nevertheless a real factor in life, as is apparent that many people imbibe so-called soft drinks without being thirsty or drink one-half of one per cent beer without either thirst or hope being present.

The canner is still on top.

If one objects by letter, one receives an answer of respectful consideration from the Dominion. If one writes the local men, they "spurze your communication with interest."

Both Dominion and provincial governments are advancing the art of "crossing the buck," and both are in agreement that if restrictions are necessary, the public must be the goat and not the canner. And yet we are spending $7.50 per capita for education in British Columbia and have a church on nearly every corner.

Old "Originals" to Observe Silent Toast For Comrades Left in France

To the memory of those men whom they left in the graves of France, members of the old "Originals," the first drafts to leave Victoria for the battlefield in August, 1914, will stand in silence at their big reunion in the Empress Hotel on Saturday evening.

The sacrifice of those who paid so early in the defence of their home and will be especially appreciated as he different members speak of old times.

In the gathering will be soldiers of the 5th Regiment, Canadian Garrison Artillery, and the 1st Battalion, Royal Canadian Dragoons, all from Victoria. A Whisky, was known in 1914 as the west sun unit in Canada; 50th Regiment, Gordon Highlanders, organized at the beginning of the war on the suggestion of General Sir Ian Hamilton, under the command of Lieut.-Col. now General Sir Arthur Currie; and the 88th Victoria Fusiliers, organized in 1912 under Lieut.-Col. W. E. W. With few officers and 260 men, the 88th was the largest contingent in the first draft while the Gordon Highlanders' unit included nine officers and 40 men.

GUARDED CITY

Owing to the fear of invasion from German warships at the time, the 88th was only able to send away sixty-five men with five officers, the remainder staying here to guard the city's defenses.

Once again the old soldiers will remember the gallant way in which their officers went into battle, many of them losing their lives and others suffering severe injuries.

Of the Gordons, four officers, Captain Herreck McGregor, Lieut. B. Irving, Lieut. S. McClure and another, met their death. Of the remainder, Major Lorne Ross, Lieutenant Grey, Lieutenant O. Rochfort and Lieutenant P. R. Wallace were wounded.

Five of the 88th officers also met their fate: Captain Harvey, Lieutenant Broyle, Lieutenant Boggs and Lieutenant Holmes being numbered among the casualties.

Capt. Cooper, Lieutenant McDowell and Lieutenant Shaw were among the wounded.

At the reunion, men who served under them as well as brother officers will turn their thoughts again to the experience they had together and will honor the memory of the departed with silent prayer.

MAN CRITICALLY HURT AT OSOYOOS

Penticton, B.C., Aug. 20.—Capt. Alfred E. Baker, B.C. war adjutant of the Standard Canadian Machine Gun Battery, to-day was in the Penticton Hospital with little hope for recovery. He was badly injured in an accident at Osoyoos Monday. Employed by the Public Works Department, Baker was in charge of a drag line which broke, causing him serious injuries.

Baker, former city assessor of Port Arthur, Ontario, at that point with the C.E.P. on the formation of the Standard Motor Machine Gun Battery, was appointed adjutant and came back to Vancouver in that position. He is one of the original settlers in the Oliver district.

RUBBER AT ANOTHER NEW LOW; NEW STABILIZATION SCHEME PROPOSES DESTROYING SURPLUS

Colelbo, Ceylon, Aug. 20.—The Ceylon Government is considering a scheme for stabilization of rubber prices, it was disclosed to-day, as news came that rubber had reached another low price at London of 2 1/2 16 pence (about 4 1/2 cents) a pound. Under the Stevenson stabilization plan an effort was made to hold it around $1 a pound, but it failed.

It has been proposed that the government appoint a deputation to record gains of 1/4 and 1/2 respectively.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

By Logan & Bryan

Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—Wheat: Prices held within narrow limits again to-day, a movement of about half a cent during the first period, and which was mostly held. There was some buying early on the relative strength in Liverpool cables, while at the same time news from abroad appears to be more constructive. Orlings were very light throughout the session, with pressure on the market. Export sales out of this market are extremely small, but Russell's reported that a fair balance had been done estimated at 300,000 and 400,000 bushels from seaboard stocks.

Manitoba were reported sold to France and the United Kingdom, while hard winters were sold to the continent. In the cash wheat market there continued a fair demand for the top grades, and spreads were fractionally higher. Domestic mills were after round lots of No. 1 northern, but found difficulty in filling their requirements. Spills on the lower grades from No. 4 down were unchanged. Broomhall reports that rains continue to cause deterioration in England, France and parts of Germany, while the crops of Denmark, Norway and Sweden, as well as parts of central Europe, are reported suffering from the unsettled weather.

Reports from China and Far East suggest much better demand for wheat owing to the small crops of rice. Primary arrivals were 1,615,000 vs. 2,470,000 a week ago. The conditions in the cash market as at present indicate a gradually strengthening situation as the season progresses, as future developments should work in favor of holders. These will include a better export trade, a small movement in the southern hemisphere, heavier consumption and seasonal purchases.

Rye: Prices were reflects short supplies in Germany, small European crop yields and big decrease in Russian production. These conditions, added to small crop in this country and Canada give promise for more constructive developments in this grain later on.

Winter Cruises Are Now Being Planned

Empress of Britain to Make Trip Around the World, While Empress of Australia Will Go to Mediterranean

Although the first round-the-world trip to be taken by the new Canadian Pacific Liner Empress of Britain, one of the most luxurious ship ever built, will not begin for another fifteen weeks yet, bookings have been in such demand, steamship officials report.

Actual bookings to date are far ahead those up to the summer period last year. The Empress of Australia and the liner sailed away from New York last capacity.

The Empress of Britain, not only on account of her size and speed, but on account of her ideal appointments, lack of vibration and perfect ventilation, will probably prove to be the most popular cruise ship ever to sail the seven seas. The builders at the Canadian shipyards are in the process of the big liner during the winter and fitted her accordingly. The vessel thus becomes the first ship ever specially designed for tropical and temperate zone cruises.

MEDITERRANEAN TRIPS

Aside from this triumphant world tour by the Empress of Britain, the company has planned two Mediterranean cruises with the 22,000-ton Empress of Australia, a liner known the world over for her palatial accommodation. There were about 1,000 passengers on board the liner out of New York and the other out of Liverpool to the East Indies and Panama zones with the Empress of Australia, the Duchess Bedford and the Duchess of Richmond.

A list of the cruises follows: Round the world—Empress of Britain, from New York, December 3-128 days; from Southampton and Coney Island, November 21-146 days; Mediterranean, Empress of Australia, from New York, February 3, 73 days; from Southampton, October 2, 22 days; West Indies and Panama, Empress of Australia, from New York, December 22, 19 days; New York, January 13, 18 days; Duchess Bedford, from New York, January 9, 28 days; New York, February 10, 28 days; New York, March 12, 28 days; New York, March 26, 14 days; Empress of Richmond, from Liverpool, January 21, 48 days.

ing City Is Due To-night; Japanese Ship on Saturday

The first of the fleet of five lumber ships due at Victoria within the next four days will arrive here to-night, wind permitting, and the agent advised this morning. The British freighter King City is due to leave tomorrow afternoon for Victoria and should be alongside the Ogden Point piers sometime this evening before midnight.

Loading of 680,000 feet of Vancouver lumber will commence at 8 o'clock in the morning and the ship will be ready to proceed to the United Kingdom late Saturday evening.

On Saturday morning the Japanese freighter Shohai Maru will be here from Port Alberni, where she is now loading. This vessel will take on 500,000 feet of timber here for ports in the Orient.

s. Carmania Will Not Be Scrapped

Liverpool, Eng., Aug. 20—A report at the liner Carmania was to be scrapped was incorrect, said an official statement from the Cunard Company yesterday. The company said that the vessel will be laid up at Gravesend during the winter.

PLANE CRASHES INJURING SIX

Bad Weather Sends Big Machine Down on Pittsburgh Field

Pittsburgh, Aug. 20.—A New York plane of transcontinental and Western Air overran its landing field yesterday morning at 10:15 a.m. at Bettis Field here and crashed into a hill at the end of the field, wobbling in the air for a moment and then crashed, injuring its six occupants.

Two passengers, the pilot and the co-pilot, who talked to a hospital boarder for some time at Bettis Field were considered serious. Mrs. T. J. Russell of Newark was reported suffering from shock, her condition aggravated by recent illness.

R. W. Donahue, Columbus, Ohio, a passenger; A. G. Smith, Harrisburg, Pa., a pilot, and Fred V. Morris, co-pilot, also were kept in hospital while Fred Nelson, manager of the Harrisburg airport, and G. T. Webster, Milwaukee, were permitted to leave after treatment. The five men received cuts and bruises.

The big ship left Chicago at 12:30 p.m. yesterday on a scheduled flight to New York. The cause of the hazardous weather over the Allegheny mountains was not known. The plane was ordered grounded at Bettis Field for the night. The under-carriage of the $60,000 ship was wrecked, but the officials expressed belief the damage could be repaired.

Because of the bad weather, flights through here were cancelled for the night, both east and west.

Graf Zeppelin Flies Over Belgium in Rain

Friedrichshafen, Aug. 20.—Flying over Belgium for the first time, the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin came home from Great Britain in pouring rain to-day, completing a cruise which marked the initial landing of a German airship on British soil since the Great War.

The craft floated peacefully above Ostend and Brussels on its way to Aachen and Cologne, back tracking a route over which German dirigibles have been flying to rain bombs on Paris and London.

A flight over Switzerland, scheduled for to-day, was abandoned because of unfavorable weather.

EX-POLICE HEAD OFF TO EUROPE

Major-Gen. C. Starnes Sails From Montreal Aboard Ss. Duchess of Atholl

Montreal, Aug. 20.—A colorful figure who takes a Puckish delight in denying the romantic adventures with which he has been filled, sailed on Tuesday on the liner Duchess of Atholl for an extended holiday in Europe. Short, well rounded, with a fierce, hairy countenance, he was dressed in a kind of twinkling eyes, Major-General Cortlandt Starnes arrived August 1.

It is expected the Yule will get into Victoria about the evening after the lumber that was unloaded on scows yesterday is put back in place on her deck and lashed.

Waiting for delayed British mails, the motor liner Douglas Limited, the Canadian Australasian Line, stopped the night at the Riel piers on her way from Vancouver to Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney.

The arrival of the Duchess of Atholl in Victoria gives to the liner Ruth Alexander, who gave that rank on his retirement, a definite upward trend in the number of passengers carried on the last four express sailings, which had up to the present manifested a decided downward trend.

SS. YAYE MARU IS REPAIRED IN ESQUIMALT

Broken Vent Pipe Caused Trouble; Ship Expects to Clear For Orient To-night

Orangi Spent Night Here and Cleared This Morning; Ruth Alexander Due

A broken vent pipe, that sent water from the tanks into the holds, was the cause of the trouble on the Japanese freighter Yaye Maru, which is still in Esquimault harbor where she arrived Tuesday evening with an eighteen degree list. Yarrow's Limited worked all last night on the freighter, and this morning the trouble was fixed.

It is expected the Yule will get into Victoria about the evening after the lumber that was unloaded on scows yesterday is put back in place on her deck and lashed.

DRAGON RETURNS FOR BRIEF VISIT EN ROUTE BERMUDA

Bound for Bermuda, her base in the West Indies, H.M.S. Dragon arrived back in Esquimault Harbor this afternoon at 5 o'clock after cruising along the British Columbia coast to Prince Rupert and Ketchikan. Since she arrived at Esquimault early in the day, the Dragon, in charge of Capt. E. J. Spooner, R.N., has visited many British Columbia ports.

She will leave Esquimault tomorrow—the next day—and go to Ushuaia, the southernmost town in South America, via Punta Arenas, Chile, and Valparaiso, Chile, before returning to Victoria.

The arrival of the Dragon gives to the liner Ruth Alexander something to look forward to in the second week of September.

The Magretanis, which sailed yesterday evening for Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton, showed an increase of 10 per cent in passengers carried in all classes compared with the corresponding sailing in 1930. This sailing maintains a definite upward trend in the number of passengers carried on the last four express sailings, which had up to the present manifested a decided downward trend.

Does a Girl Throw Away Her Chances of Happiness When She Holds Her Honor High?

MARIAH DIX—Must a girl throw away all her chances of happiness just to retain her virtue? Two years ago I became engaged to a very attractive man with whom I was much in love. He asked me to live with him. I refused and he broke our engagement. A few months later I met another young man to whom I was also attracted. He is the only support of his mother, and he says he will never marry, but he made the same position to me that the other man did and that was the last of him when I declined it. Twice I have lost my heart for happiness because I put my nor above it, but I am beginning to e faith in my early teaching and amdering if it pays a girl to be good. am broken-hearted and weary trying figure out an answer to my heart's desire.

PERPLEXED MODERN GIRL.

ANSWER—A girl doesn't throw away her chances of happiness when she follows the straight road, my dear. She throws away her chances of happiness when she takes the downward path.

The trouble with you is that you have got your values mixed and you are staking a wild time and whoopee parties and a little spurious lovemaking for happiness, which they are not and never can be. There is a difference between fun and happiness. You may have fun, for instance, in the excitement of going to the movies and in petting parties and in going on orgies, but you would do no happiness in doing things that wreck your health and your nerves and your morals and leave you with bitter remorse for wasted life and wasted opportunities.

Who makes you think that you have thrown away your happiness in refusing to become a man's mistress? By your own account neither of these men offered you honorable marriage. Neither one of them loved you well enough to think that he would wish to spend a lifetime with you. Both had it in their minds that as soon as they had tired of you they would walk off and leave you. Neither one wanted to be responsible for you or for any children that you might bring into the world or else they would have proposed a permanent arrangement with you.

When a man is really in love with a woman, when he has the kind of love for her that makes him want to cherish and protect her and have her his own, he wants to marry her. He wants to bind her to him tight and true. He wants to keep her name from the shadow of scandal and he wants his children to have the heritage of decent birth, not to be branded with gititancy.

So there isn't the slightest trouble in telling how much a man loves you, and what his feelings are toward you. If he really cares for you the way a man should care for the woman who gives herself to him, he wants to marry her. But if he has for her just a passion that he himself knows is fleeting, he proposes the other thing. Hence you have nothing to shed tears over in missing making the sorry bargain these men offered you. Rather you should beat upon the cymbals and celebrate your luck. You are not half so unhappy as you would be as a discarded lady lover with not a shred of character left, and probably with two or three babies to be supported.

Have you ever seen a woman who was leading the illicit life who was happy? Did you ever see one of them who was serene and calm and contented? Look at the women who are the "hearts" of married men. Look how soon they age, how ravaged their faces are with fear and anxiety and jealousy. Believe me, no woman gets to little happiness out of life as she who takes what is pominously called "the easiest way." She knows that she has not won up on an except, his fickle fancy and that he will always be seeing younger and prettier girls and girls with a new line of charms and that when that day comes is over for her.

Look at the women of the street. Old women while they are still girls in years. Dead in a few years. Burnt out to cinders. The Japanese call them "the sorrowful sisterhood." Do you see anything to envy in them? Do you think you have missed any happiness in not following even a distance in their footsteps?

It is, of course, a platitude to say that there is no happiness except in clean living, but it is one of the eternal truths that stand forever. You may, as I do, get a moment's thrill of fun out of wrong-doing, but if you expect to be happy you must hide no guilty secret in your heart. Your life must be an open book that you are not ashamed for others to read.

No women are more miserable than those who live in trembling terror of the world's knowing how they live, and that would be your case if you entered into a liaison with a man while he is making up his mind about marrying some other woman. And no women are more miserable than those who have a past that they must conceal. I get countless letters from girls who have lived irregular lives but who at last have met fine men who want to marry them. These girls want to know whether they should tell these men of the stains on their past lives or not.

Sometimes they do, and the man refuses to take some other man's leavings. Sometimes the man thinks that he loves the girl enough to forgive her, but rankles in his mind and he never trusts her, no matter how faithful she is to him, and in every time of family quarrels he brings it up and reviles her with what she has been. Sometimes the girl marries the man without telling him and then she spends the balance of her life in quaking terror of his discovery of her past.

So it seems to me that the girl who has been brave enough and strong enough to stick to her ideals and refuse to be any man's light-o'-love has taken the sure way to happiness. Some day the right sort of man will come along and offer you honorable marriage and you will be glad to go to him with clean hands and be able to look your children in the face without dread of their finding out the sort of woman their mother has been.

Into the Depths of Space

PASSING TIME

Within a short space of time, the comet, Spirit of Freedom, passed safely through Halleys comet, and went onward into the depths of space. The days passed and the weeks, now on board, numbered themselves as ill as they might. Then were talkin' culture programmes, and many kinds of games. There were hundreds of books to read.

From day to day Marlene Olson tended the little garden in which she'd planted vegetables and flowers. She used a sprinkling can to water her garden.

"om day to day Marlene tended the little garden

Professor Richardson one day.

"Sa far as we know, the star closest to the earth is Alpha Bores. Of course I am not speaking about planets. Planets going around the sun are much closer to the earth than any true star."

"A true star gives its own light, doesn't it."

"Yes, a true star is very much like the sun; but true stars are so far from the earth that they look like small lights."

"Is Alpha Bores as large as our sun?"

"No, the diameter of Alpha Bores is only 200,000 miles, less than one-fourth the diameter of the sun which lights the earth. Alpha Bores was not discovered until the year 2461."

"Are there any planets going around Alpha Bores?"

"Yes, our telescopes have revealed three planets which circle about Alpha Bores."

"Are there any people on those planets?"

"We do not know, but we hope to learn during this trip. If all goes well, we shall reach a planet near Alpha Bores in three months. Then we shall learn what it is like."

"Thus more days passed and more weeks. Paul seemed to enjoy every minute of the journey. By talking with the Rocketmen he was always learning something new about the wonders of science."
